Developments in Hingham

One of the 13 Townhomes that have already sold as part of Phase I of the BackRiver development in Hingham is shown on left. Town resident and developer, Thomas J. Hastings is behind the development which consists of 45 custom homes, each with about 2,200 square feet of open living space and starting prices of $825,000. The first BackRiver residents are expected to move in this September and Phase II groundbreaking has begun. Other developments in the planning stage by the Hastings Companies include the Hingham Boatyard which will provide new office and retail space to the waterfront and a 100-acre subdivision in Foxboro.
